Even while ignoring the different dimensions that make up each universe, there are many layers to the Omniverse. Starting within a single Universe, going beyond will enter the space between universes. Going beyond further will enter the furthest possible point of the Omniverse, where possibility and impossibility can coexist. While there are locations that are outside all universes, they are still contained within the Omniverse. Deus is the “outside” completely defining the outside beyond the Omniverse.

Deus is the beyondness where there is no space/time or casualty. Deus is that which lay beyond.

Deus is the underlying archetype, an Omniversal theme and reflection in which gave rise to the Gods and mythology that exist within Fiction, Nonfiction, Transfiction, Fanfiction, Metafiction, Patafiction, Interfiction, Personal Fiction, Impersonal Fiction, Incompatibilism Fiction, Impossible Fiction, Speculative Fiction, Xenofiction, Universal Genre, Universal Trope, Paratexts, Memetic Fiction, Transformation Fiction, and a priori and a posteriori Fiction.

Deus is the nucleus of all of reality, and the origin of all that was, all that is, and all that yet may be. Deus is the abode space of itself, the definitive creator of everything, and within this place, infinite stories are born; thoughts can take objective shape.

Deus is the Mystery outside the Omniverse. Deus is “The Beyond” - an unobservable space outside the Omniverse.

Deus is...Beyond. Deus is this incomprehensibly featureless level that is also the unknowable observer the Omniverse...

All of existence and nonexistence is part of the transient daydream of Deus, and will be erased at the flick of a thought. This existence includes everything within the Omniverse, which embodies all that is and isn't, also containing a never-ending amount of dimensionless, limitless beings that can control anything below them as they see fit. Even the lowest of Gods see infinitely layered worlds with infinite possibilities and impossibilities as nothing more than a blank page on a blank canvas in which they can art and shape.

The concept of destruction, metaphysical annihilation, just like all other concepts, exists only in its unfathomable mind.

Deus is the plane of nonexistence outside of the Omniverse. Sometimes described as an "outer-void" where nothing happens. However, Deus is the other side of nowhere, which is everywhere; the "outer-void" is also the "zenith" where all is observable. Deus is the plane of unrestricted possibility, where Deus can and does see all.

Deus is the layer of unbeing where there is neither time nor space. Deus stands apart from the personifications of existence and nonexistence, and is thus outside the range of their influence.

Deus has created every Fictional, Nonfictional, Transfictional, Fanfictional, Metafictional, Patafictional, Interfictional, Personal Fictional, Impersonal Fictional, Incompatibilism Fictional, Impossible Fictional, Speculative Fictional, Xenofictional, Universal Genre, Universal Trope, Paratextual, Memetic Fictional, Transformation Fictional, and a priori and a posteriori Fictional story that can be described including ones where beings like Deus itself can also create every story that can be described which forms an Infinite Hierarchy of abstract stories.

- Deus surpasses the notion of size, surpassing all of existence and views the rest of the Omniverse as mere fiction.

Deus essentially lies beyond the scope of human understanding, including the vastness of all concepts/meta-concepts and words that could be potentially used to describe said Deus. In other words, Deus is an apophatic nature – an entity completely removed from all concepts/meta-concepts and words as any and all descriptors of the human language, including thoughts would fail to effectively describe the "perfect" nature that is the true nature of Deus.

Deus is simultaneously "incomprehensible" and existing in a state of "perfection" that is so vast that any word or concept that you could ascribe to Deus becomes a separate thing altogether and is fundamentally non-applicable to the perfection of Deus.

- Deus is the definitive force that exists everywhere and nowhere all at once, existing in every point you can conceptualize and or perceive.

Deus is always vastly beyond any incomprehensibility.

- Deus possesses an apophatic nature in relation to the Omniverse.
- Deus contains all concepts, meta-concepts, thoughts and the intensions/extensions alike which dissolve into nothingness which is Deus.
- Deus is above all descriptors and metaphors that underpin reality and beyond dimensional reality.

Deus contains the ultimate mystery that absolutely transcends all human categories of thought, even the categories of being and non-being.

Deus is The Absolute, a "supreme being" that is transcendent of everything and cannot be reached by any means or expressed by any value. Deus is both the beginning of all stories and also it's ending.

Deus is beyond the concept of size, dimensionality; larger the entirety of the Omniverse and is also one with everything, as all things are an aspect of its existence.

- Deus can interact with stories and non-physical things such as nothingness.
- Deus exists as the author of every story and can write and end stories at a whim.
- Deus transcends and contains all of creation which contains an absolute infinite multiplicity of Higher Dimensions and Non-Spatial Locations.

Deus exists beyond all concepts of Dimensions, beyond all meta-concepts of theoretical impossible higher dimensions, and beyond all concepts, worlds and stories due to them being merely a work of fiction compared to Deus.

- Deus is the unreal setting that exists outside of perception.

Deus contains every narrative that was never written and all titles eliminated by cosmic retcons.

Deus exists above and contains all layers and realms of Metaphysics and is transcendent of all concepts, meta-concepts, dimensions, higher-dimensions, mathematics, and boundaries.

- Deus created an absolute infinite multiplicity of boundless worlds with each one substantially greater than the last which creates an endless hierarchy of worlds.

Deus is the very essence of Nothingness itself, with its being encompassing all that doesn't or shouldn't exist.

- Nonexistent Physiology (Deus possesses an apophatic nature in relation to pure Nonexistence and ultimately exists without existing)
- Existence Erasure (Anything that comes into contact with Deus is erased from all history, all quantum configurations of reality, and existence as All is nothing before Deus)
- Conceptual Manipulation (Deus is and can erase the very concept of Time itself. Deus embodies Nothingness and Possibility. Deus is the totality of all concepts and meta-concepts including the Omniverse and “Outside” of the Omniverse)
- Law Manipulation (Deus is the creator and the totality of Laws)
- Non-Corporeal (Deus possesses an apophatic nature in relation to a formless entity, along with names, terms, and essence)

Deus transcends the absolute result of encompassing all dimensional spaces and realities within the Omniverse; operating beyond all scientific definition and all mathematics alike - existing as an incomprehensible beyondness whose existence/nonexistence is the highest power within the Omniverse.

Deus contains an absolutely infinite multiplicity of Higher Dimensions, transcending the Material Omniverse which already encompasses so many boundless Dimensions that it cannot be defined by limited human language.

- Deus contains the utterly formless, dimensionless void without restrictions or true layouts or backgrounds.

Deus is that which actively exists in all possibilities and in all impossibilities and is one with all of existence and nonexistence, with modes and attributes of creation being the very essence of reality that is Deus. Deus exists even beyond the boundaries of the material plane where all that is concrete exists, including the concept of dimensional space. Deus exists beyond the abstract realm where all conceptions, real and unreal reside.

The entire Omniverse is nothing from the perspective of Deus; as a result, Deus exists outside of any formal and informal Space-Time continuum.

Deus is the fundamental reality, an underlying force of the Omniverse. Deus represents everything that is, ever will be and anything that "is" in at any point in existence. The total sum of creation was initially formless and had no agency until Deus created all modes and attributes of existence, giving shape to thought and separated all things from sameness into something lucid.

Deus represents everything that has never been, will never be or simply aren't. Deus is the absolute nothingness that surrounds All, with all things in creation being fated to inevitably march towards Deus, returning to the oneness in which is "Deus".

Deus is the quintessence of Creation itself.

Deus absolutely embodies and controls the Space-Times of all iterations of existence.

- Deus controls the very fabric of the Omniverse, up to at least boundless infinitely-layered upon boundless Spatio-Temporal Dimensions.
- Deus is one with all Spatio-Temporal Dimensions in the Omniverse. Deus is constantly creating, sustaining, and destroying the Omniverse.

Deus embodies and sustains all data needed to hold the reality in place.

Deus has control over all stories and governs over them; embodies all stories.

Deus governs over all iterations of existence – the Omniverse

- Deus perceives and interacts with all planes of existence held in the Omniverse simultaneously.

By the superior quality of being all of existence itself, even if everything is destroyed fully, Deus will remain.

Deus is the very Essence and Embodiment of the Omniverse itself and has absolute abstract control over creation.

Deus is akin to the transfictional author of Creation as the Omniverse is akin to the white sheet of paper Author's use when writing.

Deus is beyond Infinite-Dimensional Space beyond all concepts, stories, and worlds of which are fiction to it.

Deus absolutely embodies and fully encompasses all of creation itself, existing in all iterations of existence and nonexistence, and influencing them.

Deus is the absolute reality and is fundamental to the existence of all things, with its existence being even more abstract and deeper than the information personified by Nothingness, Possibility, and Totality as it represents everything that is and everything is not.

- All of creation is merely a part of an illusionary fragment of a thought.
- Deus predates existence and nonexistence.
- Deus is not attached to the sameness, oneness, wholeness, and otherness in which creation initially existed in.
- Deus is beyond and precedes the idea of "Oneness" "Sameness" "Otherness"
- Deus gave rise to the very Names, Terms, and Essence that define all of creation, including every single possibility, nothingness, and totality that birthed the formal and informal information that pervades all of existence in the Omniverse.
- Deus created every notion of time and space, all aspects of reality, physics causality, and mysticism; including the concept of "forms" in which separated all things from a unified totality

Deus encompasses and exists beyond the infinite ladder of stories in which all are defined by Deus.

- Deus "exists" as the fundamental truth and illusion to the Omniverse, postulating itself as an "existence/nonexistence" beyond every idea and all things in which can be attached to "names, terms, and essence".

Deus is the be-ness, sameness, oneness, and otherness that is the absolute void of nothingness beyond logical and mystical definition.

Deus is the be-ness, sameness, oneness, and otherness that is all iterations of the Space-Time continua.

- Deus is the Intent of the very fundamental law that governs and shapes reality.
- Deus contains and is all-encompassing of the Omniverse which contains a boundless on top of boundless amount of layers of existence with "higher dimensions beyond Fictional, Nonfictional, Transfictional, Fanfictional, Metafictional, Patafictional, Interfictional, Personal Fictional, Impersonal Fictional, Incompatibilism Fictional, Impossible Fictional, Speculative Fictional, Xenofictional, Universal Genre, Universal Trope, Paratextual, Memetic Fictional, Transformation Fictional, and a priori and a posteriori Fictional understanding" with "beyond dimensional reality" impossibly above those.

Deus is the be-ness, sameness, oneness, and otherness that is completely beyond the infinite hierarchy of Omniversal planes and layers which function as spatial-temporal dimensions with each higher one seeing a lower one as fiction.

Deus exists beyond a state of transcendence beyond all principles, realms, and dimensions in possibility, nothingness, and totality.

- Deus transcends all concepts and meta-concepts and holds all of existence and nonexistence within itself.

Deus transcends creation and existed before creation, possessing absolute control over an absolute infinite multiplicity of concepts and meta-concepts which each create a new concept.

- Deus has superiority over literally every concept and meta-concept that can be described and every concept and meta-concept that cannot be described.

Deus is and contains the most primordial and deep-seated dimension of the Omniverse -- a realm filled with boundless upon boundless layers of pure thoughts and concepts.

- Deus transcends the standard spatio-temporal flow that is contained within the Omniverse of countless higher dimensions.

Deus is the supreme "oneness", the encompassing transcendental singularity that acts as the grand design in which reality/unreality is etched on. The World of Forms and the Shadow of Forms are merely an aspect of its own existence/nonexistence and such forms are in themselves progenies of the source, in which Deus is and everything not of Deus simply doesn't exist.

- Deus everything that exists, both materially and immaterially; everything that can be defined as existent is a part of Deus and anything not of Deus does not exist.

Deus contains and is the embodiment of the absolute emptiness that predates creation.

- Surpasses all concepts, meta-concepts, dimensions and higher dimensions, existing in a layer of Timelessness and Spaceless beyond every Spatial facet due to being an absolute emptiness devoid of anything such as Time, Space, Concepts, Thoughts, Information, and Forms

Deus has absolute control over any and all settings that exist in the Omniverse.

Deus is the rules of probability.

Deus created, can manipulate and is one with all concepts in the Omniverse.

- Deus is always that which underpins reality.
- Deus is the ascension upwards and downwards throughout the infinite layers of reality.

Deus can shape and rewrite the laws of boundless cosmologies on a greater scale than the Omniverse.

Deus has already determined the fates of everything in the "Omniverse", essentially being predestined outcome

- The laws of cause and effect are under the complete control of Deus

Fiction, Nonfiction, Transfiction, Fanfiction, Metafiction, Patafiction, Interfiction, Personal Fiction, Impersonal Fiction, Incompatibilism Fiction, Impossible Fiction, Speculative Fiction, Xenofiction, Universal Genre, Universal Trope, Paratexts, Memetic Fiction, Transformation Fiction, and a priori and a posteriori Fiction is nothing more than a "game" to Deus and as such, Deus can manipulate all of reality on a boundless on top of boundless steps above a narrative level, having the ability to change and rework entire stories.

Deus is constantly adding higher dimensions to the settings, each more superior than the last ad infinitum.

Deus is the single source acting alone, the indivisible origin – the cosmogony that everything was only part of, a supreme oneness that encompasses all that ever was, current is and will potentially be.

- Deus exists as the very thought of oneness, embodying absolutely everything there is and will be
- Spirits originate from Deus itself, also being an aspect of Deus
- All matter that exists is a byproduct of Deus
- The existence of space and time are illusions, with them being substances that Deus governs; fashioned the entirety of space and time, including past, present, future and endless as a result of creating forms)
- Exists beyond and contain The World of Forms, which is beyond causality and all of space-time as a whole)
- Deus links all minds together and influences them. All thoughts are oneness to Deus
- Deus created the very laws of reality and gave them authority over the physical realm, mystical realm, and metaphysical realm setting the basis for how everything will function. Deus can alter and restructure the laws of boundless realms at will
- Deus exists beyond all dualisms, being completely unbound by all opposites
- Deus exists without any form of physicality, transcending even the actuality of being purely conceptual
- Deus has absolute resistance to everything that's part of it; resists everything that it encompasses

Deus contains all being connected to creation, and personify concepts essential for existence, Deus "exists" entirely beyond it, being outside form, nature, space and time.

- Deus contains the embodiment of nonexistence, residing beyond the Omniverse and all the abstract personifications that make up its possibility, nothingness, and totality.
- Having existed before creation, Deus holds the names, terms, and essence of all things prior to existence
- Deus contains transcendental energies beyond linearity

Deus is the realization that the temperament of the world, all reality, does not really exist. They exist only as a vision of "Power," which, for lack of another word, is called Deus. All things, including yourself, exist only in a fleeting vision of Deus, and you are only a part of the mind of Deus.

- Deus contains "I exist" and "I do not exist," the realization of both truths simultaneously.
- Deus came before all modes and attributes in play, even the endless emptiness before creation

Every action that happens is a result of Deus including every Cause and Effect outcome of which Deus also governs.

- Deus is the creator of Reason.
- Deus exists as an unimaginable and incomprehensible state which is beyond any form of logic and meta-logic. Even a mere "shadow" of Deus is boundless and beyond all iterations of space and time.

Deus is the Supreme Being in the entire Omniverse. Everything Deus can and has done is applicable to other Deus, as they are beyond the necessity of be-ness, oneness, sameness, and otherness.

- Deus is transcendent of all concepts and meta-concepts, boundaries and ascension beyond a state of countless absolute boundlessness existing outside of all of existence and nonexistence, all concepts and dimensions.

In the beginning, there was not nothingness. Nothingness is the contrary of something; nothingness is an absence that implies an existence. Nonexistence was not nothing; nonexistence simply wasn't. Deus is the complete negation of nonexistence and the balance of the absolute infinite multiplicity of power and potential of Omnipotence, being the absolute expression of True Omnipotence and its substance and existence.

Deus knows everything there is to know as Deus knows every action that is being made or has been made. Deus knows about all worlds, dimensions, beyond dimensional realities and even about other personal, impersonal, and transpersonal stories and characters as Deus is the storyteller of all stories.

- Deus is above totality and is the cause of everything that is and can be described. All of creation is merely a transient momentary imaginary tale to Deus. Deus can freely manipulate and create all stories that can be formally described and that can logically exist or that cannot logically exist. The sheer existence of Deus lies on being above everything that exists as Deus is above everything there is and is an absolute existence and nonexistence, thus no category, thought or narrative can encompass its superior boundlessness.

Deus is all possibilities, all impossibilities, all things and it cannot be described except by metaphors.

- Deus stands outside of the concept and the forms of the entirety of dimensions, causality, and space-time, with such concepts being meaningless to it.
- Deus is the source of all reality, including infinite dimensional space itself.
- Deus contains the construct with all concepts that can be described and all meta-concepts that cannot be described.
- Deus created every story that can be described and every story that cannot be described, including ones where beings like Deus itself can also create every story that can be described and every story that cannot be described -- which forms an Infinite Hierarchy on top of an Infinite hierarchy (ad infinitum) of abstract stories, and even deeper abstract stories.
- Deus transcends the concept of size, meaning that Deus surpasses all of existence and views the rest of the Omniverse as a mere imaginary tale.
- Deus transcends the Reader who exist beyond the confines of the story and transcends everything there is including all known concepts and all unknown concepts, dimensions, hyper dimensions, beyond dimensional reality and stories as in the Pataphysical world superseding that which is called "true-life".
- Deus contains and transcends all hypercosmological constructs and their intensions and extensions that operate on Quantum Entanglement which is a expression of Hilbert Space and is described as having Infinite Worlds within Infinite Dimensions – each with their own Deus governing it.
- Deus exists as a nonrepresentational impression that can manifest itself across all of reality, hyperreality, and unreality simultaneously.

Deus encompasses and transcends the absolute wholeness of all of existence and nonexistence, which is never-ending, in a boundless expanse where existence consists of absolute boundless multiplicities of differing infinite universes, infinite planes, infinite dimensions, infinite realms, and infinite timelines. Deus encompasses and is the source of all beings who exists and those that are a theoretical impossibility.

- Deus is considered to be absolutely boundless from the perspectives of all beings.
- Deus is Everywhere, Somewhere, Anywhere and Nowhere all at once.
- Deus knows all that could ever, would and has ever been known, and beyond. All knowledge, awareness, understanding, and data come from it, as everything that ever has and ever will be happens according to its will. Deus knows every concept, every action and etc.

Deus transcends a level of existence that transcends boundless ad infinitum levels of existence that transcends the concept of infinite dimensions.

- Deus is the narrative causality that governs the Omniverse, including controlling the causality that influences all modes and attributes of existence.

Deus exists beyond be-ness, sameness, wholeness, oneness, and otherness comprehension and description.

- Deus is exists in all possibilities all impossibilities and is one with all of existence, acting as the influence behind the very essence of reality and existing even beyond the boundaries of the objective plane were all that is material exists.
- Deus exists beyond the abstract realm where all conceptions, real and unreal exist in.

Deus exists as the ultimate Omniversal Observer that extends to any given Fictional, Nonfictional, Transfictional, Fanfictional, Metafictional, Patafictional, Interfictional, Personal Fictional, Impersonal Fictional, Incompatibilism Fictional, Impossible Fictional, Speculative Fictional, Xenofictional, Universal Genre, Universal Trope, Paratextual, Memetic Fictional, Transformation Fictional, and a priori and a posteriori Fictional beyond dimensional reality of the Omniverse.

- Deus contains "the set of all possible and impossible stories" that holds all versions and variations of all elements, objects, and chaos in a tenet.
- Deus contains the canvas authors use to impose their rules and laws freely and create reality.
- Deus contains the foundation that lies beyond all possible ideas, concepts, and thoughts.

Deus is Apophatic in relation to all of Fiction, all of Nonfiction, all of Transfiction, all of Fanfiction, all of Metafiction, all of Patafiction, all of Interfiction, all of Personal Fiction, all of Impersonal Fiction, all of Incompatibilism Fiction, all of Impossible Fiction, all of Speculative Fiction, all of Xenofiction, all Universal Genres, all Universal Tropes, all of Paratexts, all of Memetic Fiction, all of Transformation Fiction, and all of a priori and a posteriori Fiction on a boundless ad infinitum qualitative personal, impersonal, and transpersonal scale.
